

HEADBANGER

ZINS THAT ROCK

What is a Headbanger?

It's me, it's you, any age, any gender, any race, any nationality of people united by the sights, sounds and energetic feeling you get from kick ass Rock & Roll

You may be considered a Headbanger if you have ever.....,

- Thought your music would change as you got older and it never has nor will
- Had a uplifting change of mood from the sound of one guitar riff, a base stroke, or a single thump of a base drum.
- Started driving faster when a classic tune comes on the radio and you crank it up.
- Lined up the night before for an album release and/or concert tickets
- Pissed off your friends because you made them see the opening act that they never heard of (consequently it's now their favorite band of all time - ask anyone who saw Metallica in 1984 open for Ozzy)
- Refused to get rid of old tour T-shirt and ticket stubs even though your spouse threatens to cut you off.
- Been laughed at by people in the next car at the light while beating the steering wheel to death or screaming along with the windows down.....add you don't give a shit what they think
- Driven or flown to a city further than 3 hours away to see a metal show (sleeping the buzz off in the car after, optional)
- Skipped school, work, or simply lied so you could attend a show. And took the punishment for it with pride
- Find yourself still buying CD's instead of downloading because you love the sound quality and physical element of reading the stories and credits inside.
- Had the cops arrive at 2AM because the f'n neighbors are complaining about your loud rock music. And they're a half mile away
- Never got into Rap, never will

HEADBANGER

WINES THAT ROCK

- Walked into a show alone and after a 4 hour experience you feel as though you know hundreds, if not thousands, of people around you.
- Woke up with a sore neck from the night before even though you were just at a bar or at home with friends bangin' your head to classics while reminiscing about every show you've been to
- Threw your fist or horns up in the air for hours unleashing all of your stress at the best sounding and visually stimulating theatrical experience you have ever been to....that is, until the next show

If you can associate with one, many, or all of the situations above, welcome to the club. It's not a club you can pay for or be invited to join. It simply exists in your blood from birth until your death. You are and always will be, a Rock n Roller for life, affectionately known as a Headbanger.

Now, I bring you a set of wines which are as energetic and racy as the music we love. Enjoy my other passion of winemaking with your favorite song or CD and see how wine and Rock n Roll are a true natural pairing. Horns and Glasses in the air, Headbanger!

Paul J. Hoffman, Drummer, Winemaker, Headbanger for Life! \m/ ^_^ \m/